Man Takes His Life With Rifle in Unoccupied Cabin Near Gull

BULLET ENDANGERS LIFE OF NEIGHBOR AT NEARBY SPRING

BODY OF ROBERT SINCLAIR, FATHER OF SIX, TAKEN HERE FOR BURIAL

Robert Sinclair, 43, father of six children, a former Brainerd resident, was dead here today, victim of self bullet infliction during a visit to an unoccupied cabin owned by his father near Gull lake late yesterday.

Bullet Nearly Hits Neighbor

Sitting on a bed in the one room cabin, Sinclair pressed a .32 rifle against his chest and fired. The bullet passed through his heart and back, ripped through the cabin wall and narrowly missed striking a neighbor who was tapping water at a nearby spring, investigators said.

The shooting occurred about 5 p. m.

Three notes were written by Sinclair before he shot himself. These are now in the files of Frank Kinkel, deputy coroner of Cass county who investigated the shooting and pronounced it suicidal.

The cabin where Sinclair killed himself was situated in Cass county about 15 miles west of Brainerd on the so called Lakeview road, about five miles north of the Pine Beach hotel. It was owned by his father, Al Sinclair who resides on Gull lake near Rocky Point. The cabin had been closed this winter.

Officials reported that Sinclair who lived with his parents left early yesterday for the north end of the lake to work putting up ice for a resort. He worked during the morning, then decided to visit the cabin.

Lawrence Rines reported to officials that he was tapping water at a spring near the cabin when a bullet whizzed by him. He left his chores and ran to the house of Leonard Rardin. The two returned to the cabin and found Sinclair lying dead on the bed.

Formerly Lived Here

Relatives were making arrangements today for Sinclair's burial here. Sinclair formerly lived at Brainerd, South Long Lake, St. Mathias, Pillager, Montana and in parts of Canada.

SCORES RASKOB FOR SPEECH ON HOOVER'S PROHIBITION VIEWS

HURLEY DECLARES RASKOB IN BETTER POSITION TO TELL OF "SLANDERING PRESIDENT"

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley today issued a statement saying that Chairman John J. Raskob of the democratic national committee was in much better position to speak regarding the money spent "slandering and misrepresenting" the president, than regarding his prohibition views.

The secretary took exception to remarks reported to have been made by Raskob in an address in New York last night. Raskob was quoted as telling a meeting of the New York Young Democratic club that he was informed on good authority that President Hoover would run for re-election on a prohibition referendum platform if the republicans should adopt one.

"Mr. Raskob," Hurley said, "is in a position to speak much more accurately of the amount of money that he and his associates have spent slandering and misrepresenting the president of the United States than he is as to the president's views on the 18th amendment."

110 Sign Resubmission of Prohibition Petition

"Ma" Ferguson's Hat in Ring

Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, above, who once canned fruit in the Texas gubernatorial mansion, again has tossed her bonnet into the race for governorship of the Lone Star state. She won the office in 1924 to "vindicate" her husband, former Governor James E. (Pa) Ferguson, who had been ousted a decade before. She was criticized for wholesale pardoning of convicts.

Balmy Weather to Continue in State

Fair skies and balmy temperatures will continue in Minnesota tonight and Saturday, the United States weather bureau predicted today.

Unusually warm temperatures for February were recorded in the Dakotas where temperatures high in the forties were reported at 7 A. M. today. A high mark of 48 in Minneapolis set a new high since 1896.

Temperatures in Minnesota were just over the freezing point this morning but mounted during the day. Robins and butterflies have been reported seen and one flight of geese migrating northward was reported.

FEDERAL LOANS OF $400 INSUFFICIENT, N.D. GOVERNOR SAYS

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—North Dakota farmers cannot get along on the $400 limitation the department of agriculture has placed on farm production loans under the reconstruction finance corporation act, Gov. G. F. Shafer of North Dakota told Sec. of Agriculture Hyde today.

Safer, however, was frank in admitting that unless the corporation's directors took full advantage of provisions of the act and increased the farm loan beyond the $50,000,000 minimum Hyde could do "practically nothing." Today the governor will discuss the subject further with Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner and member of the corporation.

Safer also asked the department of agriculture to give further consideration to needs of southern North Dakota livestock producers for immediate feed relief.

The department at present is using $7,000,000 left over from drought relief funds for feeding the livestock in those northwestern areas made destitute by the unprecedented winter they have suffered.

145 NAMES NEEDED BEFORE DOCUMENT CAN BE CONSIDERED

CONFIDENT NECESSARY NUMBER WILL SIGN PETITION; MAY BE HEARD MARCH 14

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—A militant house "wet bloc" pinned its hopes today on a piece of paper on Speaker Garner's desk for a record on prohibition to use in the coming campaign.

This veritable "scrap of paper" is a petition which members desiring a house vote on resubmission of the 18th amendment are signing. A total of 110 signatures had been scrawled on it today. The petition, which was opened for signing only yesterday, must carry 145 names to bring the resubmission proposition before the house.

Rep. Linthicum, Dem., Md., head of the "wet bloc," expressed confidence that a sufficient number would sign, and if his confidence is well placed the house will automatically set aside March 14 for what may prove a historic battle.

While enthusiastic house anti-prohibitionists are preparing for their test, their senate colleagues are looking expectantly to the Bingham four cent beer bill which is before the manufacturers committee. The subcommittee which recently concluded extended hearings on this measure is expected to report it favorably to the whole committee Monday or Tuesday.

Whether the latter will endorse it remains to be seen, but it is conceded a good chance. That would throw the issue into the senate.

Both house and senate are preponderantly dry, and no change in the law will come at this session. But anti-prohibitionists are using their handy levels in both house and senate to force a record vote on prohibition since enactment of the Jones (five-and-ten) law three years ago.

Among the 110 who had signed the petition today were the following northwest representatives.

Minnesota—Knutson, Maas, Pittenger.

Wisconsin—Amlie, Boileau, Kading, Schafer, Stafford, Withrow, republicans, and Reilly, and Peavey, democrats.

FEDERAL RESERVE CREDIT BILL AWAITS HOOVER'S SIGNATURE

CONGRESS COMPLETES ACTION ON GLASS-STEAGALL BILL TO AID BUSINESS

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Congress today completed action on the Glass-Steagall bill to aid business with new federal reserve credit and sent the completed measure to the White House for President Hoover's signature.

The house acted within 20 minutes after it had convened at noon. The conference report was sent promptly to the senate, where it required only a two-minute explanation by one of its authors, Senator Glass, dem., Va.

A vast flow of credit immediately will be available through the federal reserve system when President Hoover signs the bill.

In its final form, the measure permanently revises the federal reserve system by permitting groups of five or more banks to borrow from federal reserve banks on their promissory notes subject to approval by five members of the federal reserve board.

Under "exceptional and exigent circumstances" an individual member bank of the federal reserve system, if its capital does not exceed $5,000,000 may borrow on its promissory note subject to the approval of five members of the board, if it has no available assets.

The third provision of the bill permits issuance of additional currency by the substitution of government bonds for other forms of collateral now used to back federal reserve note issues.

The last two provisions are limited to one year.

ORGANIZING MOVE TO UNIFY FORCES AGAINST HOOVER

AT SAME TIME BORAH-FOR-PRESIDENT BUTTONS ARE CIRCULATED IN SENATE

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The word passed in independent republican circles today that Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania is organizing a movement to contest the nomination of President Hoover.

There were definite indications that Pinchot might offer his own name in an effort to consolidate anti-Hoover sentiment. He is understood to have received promise of financial backing and widespread support.

These impressions grew out of a series of conferences Pinchot held yesterday with Senator Borah, Rep. Idaho, and others. He is understood to have asked Borah to undertake leadership of the movement but Borah declined.

At the same time Borah-for-president buttons were circulated in the senate by some mysterious agency. Efforts to find where they came from were unavailing. Senator Moses, Rep. N. H., said his came through the mail. Borah knew nothing about them. His friends suspected someone might be playing a joke on him.

PRINTER CHARGES TAMPERING STATE UNIT BY "BIG THREE"

STATE PRINTER ELWOOD MILLS SENDS RESIGNATION TO GOVERNOR AND ASKS AUDIT

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—(UP)—State Printer Elwood Mills today asked the state public examiner for an audit of the printing department and was said to have sent his resignation to Governor Floyd B. Olson charging unwarranted interference with the personnel of his department by the "big three."

The audit which was ordered immediately was the second to be stated in state department accounts this week. Accountants today sought to unravel the maze of accounts in the state department of agriculture.

Mills said books of his office were six months behind because of the inefficiency of J. E. Spielman, assistant state printer.

"I feel it my duty to call your attention to a situation in this office which is rapidly assuming serious proportions," Mills' letter to the governor said.

"Since July 15, 1931, I have been burdened with the presence in this office of one J. E. Spielman, who is occupying at the present time the so-called post of assistant state printer. In the past this position was responsible for the bookkeeping but Spielman has no bookkeeping experience and his work has been neglected for six months."

"The period for letting state contracts for printing is approaching and it is of vital importance that the records of this office be up to date for the convenience of printers who wish to examine them in preparing their proposals."

HOLDS DENTIST IS ENTITLED SHARE IN ESTATE OF SISTER

STATE SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN TWO DECISIONS IN CASES TODAY

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The state supreme court today affirmed Wabasha county probate and district courts in holding that Jesse F. Conway, Red Wing dentist, is entitled to the $50,000 estate of his sister, Martha E. Conway, Lake City.

Miss Conway died June 14, 1929, leaving all her property to her brother. She was survived by three months by her invalid mother, Mrs. Mary Conway, 78, Lake City. The Lake City Bank and Trust Co., sued to break the will in the interest of the mother.

Wabasha county courts held the will valid.

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—(UP)—A gamble over a court verdict in which Patrick Hammel borrowed $705 from Matthew Hammel, junior at the Duluth Cathedral, to prosecute a suit, made the transaction invalid, the state supreme court held today.

In 1918 Hammel promised to pay Hackett 10 times as much as the sum borrowed if the case involving ownership of ore properties was decided favorably.

Denies Kidnaping

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Forest O'Brine, the endurance flier, appeared at Lambert-St. Louis field today, after a mysterious absence of three days and denied he had been "kidnaped," as had been reported by his wife. In addition he declined to say where he had been.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brine are shown above.

BUILD RIVER BARGE LINE TERMINAL AT RED WING IN SPRING

Red Wing, Minn., Feb. 26.—(UP)—The Chamber of Commerce today announced that a large Mississippi river barge line terminal will be established here this spring coincident with the reopening of the Red Wing Millwork Co., which has been closed for two years.

River barges as well as millwork specialties will be produced at the plant by a company headed by C. W. Loring and Albert J. Parent, Chicago. Approximately 35 to 50 skilled wood workers will be hired within six weeks it was said.

Coal and other freight will be handled through the terminal on barges constructed at the local millworks, and sent by railroad from Red Wing to other points in the northwest.

RUSSIA PROTESTS JAPAN PLANS TO MOVE TROOPS ON SOVIET-MANCHURIAN FRONT

Moscow, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The Soviet government has expressed sharp dissatisfaction with Japanese plans to transport troops to points on the Soviet-Manchurian frontier and alleged Japanese support of anti-Soviet White Russian activities, it was revealed today.

The press at the same time charged Japan was organizing a White Russian army to attack Soviet forces at Vladivostok.

Leo Karakhan, assistant commissar of foreign affairs, asked Japanese Ambassador Hirota for confirmation and explanation of four reports:

1. That the Japanese command at Harbin intended to transport troops to the Soviet frontier.
2. That the command proposed to reduce fares for soldiers transported over the Chinese Eastern railroad.
3. That Russian emigres were increasing active under Japanese protection and support.
4. The nature of the proposed independent state in Manchuria.

The Soviet press charged that the Japanese were organizing the White Russian army to attack points on one end of the Chinese Eastern railroad while the Japanese themselves attacked the other end.

Vladivostok, eastern terminus of the railway, is Russia's great seaport in the Orient, practically its only seaport after loss to Japan of Port Arthur in the war of 25 years ago.

Karakhan asked the ambassador whether the Japanese command in Manchuria had asked for 17 echelons to transport troops to Imyanpa and Issaquah, Wash., Feb. 26.—Six men were believed to have been killed when thousands of tons of mud and gravel crushed a bunkhouse at the High Point Lumber Co., near here today. Two bodies were recovered by rescue crews who dug frantically into the slide.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26.—(UP)—Rail workers on the Skagit river, 150 miles north of here, dug frantically through the debris of a huge snow and earth slide today in search of the bodies of six companions.

The workmen, employed on the city light railway to Diablo dam, were trapped in the slide when they failed to heed warnings quickly enough.

Those reported dead were Melvin Sherwood, Carl Nelson and Gus Payne, all of Seattle, and Harold A. Brown, Skagit.

The slide was expected, and guards were stationed to warn the workmen. When it started, all but eight hurried to safety. The six victims were caught under tons of earth and snow. The other two pulled themselves out unhurt.

Protestant Ministers Condemn Vatican Decree

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—(UP)—The Protestant Ministers' Council of St. Paul today forwarded to all Protestant churches in the city copies of a resolution condemning a recent Vatican decree on marriage as "an affront to all other Christian communions."

The resolution was adopted unanimously by the council members. Protestants are warned to "consider seriously the unhappy religious complications" of marriages arising under provisions of a recent Papal encyclical. The resolution quotes briefly from the encyclical.

Japanese announced destruction of the Chinese airdrome at Hangchow by aerial bombing as infantry and artillery continued attempts to break Chinese lines at Tazang. Three Chinese airplanes were shot down and grounded machines and hangars were destroyed.

Japanese and Chinese positions relatively unchanged on second day of renewed Japanese onslaught at Tazang and fourth week of fighting at and near Shanghai.

Russia expressed sharp dissatisfaction at Japanese program in Manchuria and demanded explanation of alleged plans for troops movements to Soviet-Manchurian frontier and reports of Japanese support for white Russian military activity.

French, British, United States and Italian ambassadors at Tokio asked Japanese not to land reinforcements in international settlement at Shanghai. Privy council considered additional 22,000,000 yen appropriation for Shanghai expedition.

Definite reports have reached Washington that Tokio would like to end its adventure at Shanghai as soon as it may do so without loss of national prestige.

Shanghai, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Japanese sent a sensational armada of bombing planes against Chinese air forces at Hangchow today, and claimed to have destroyed 14 enemy planes while infantry and artillery battled away at the Chinese lines between Tazang and Kiangwan.

The Nipponese bombing fleet numbered 25, including heavy, comparatively slow moving bombers, and their fleet convoy of lead spitting pursuit and battle planes.

Three Chinese planes were shot down during the sensational air battle over Hangchow airport, Japanese claimed. Eleven other Chinese planes were destroyed by bombs, they claimed.

The airport, southwest of Shanghai, is the Chinese air base. And the Japanese claimed they had destroyed the entire Chinese concentration of fighting planes.

The Japanese claimed their one disabled plane, forced down between Shanghai and Hangchow, was the only Japanese casualty. It fell in Hangchow bay and a Japanese destroyer, weight eight airplanes circling overhead, rescued the three occupants.

The Japanese said they shot down the three Chinese planes with machine gun fire.

The Nipponese airmen circled over the airdrome, with visibility conditions in their favor, swooped low, and cut loose their bomb cargoes.

While victory was claimed for the Japanese aerial forces, their infantry and artillery were having a more difficult time beating back the Chinese before Tazang. The grim Japanese advance was renewed at 11 a. m. after a smashing artillery barrage.

London, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Two preachers have offered to place themselves as unarmed, neutral civilians, between Japanese and Chinese armies at Shanghai to "end fighting." The offer is made by Maude Royden, popular lay preacher, and the Rev. "Dick" Sheppard, noted British ecclesiastic.

The two announced in an open letter to the press that they had written the League of Nations offering to place themselves "unarmed between the combatants in China if such action meant that war could be halted."

American Joins Chinese Air Forces
Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Bert Hall, American aviator who formerly commanded the Chinese army air corps, will sail for China today to join that nation's war fliers.

It was assumed that he would resume his duties as commander. T. V. Soong, Chinese nationalist leader, asked Hall to leave immediately. The aviator was a member of the original Lafayette escadrille during the world war.

Washington, Feb. 26.—(UP)—Japanese forces today advanced approximately one-half mile toward the city of Tazang, one of the objectives in their drive against the Chinese. Admiral M. M. Taylor, American naval commander at Shanghai, reported to the navy department.

Taylor said the advance followed intensive artillery preparation. There were few Japanese casualties. Japanese planes "effectively" bombed the Hangchow airdrome in the morning, he said.

DR. KELLY, AITKIN, FIRST PRESIDENT; 2 LOCAL MEN NAMED

NEWLY FORMED CHAPTER REPRESENTS RESERVE; PLANS ACTIVE WORK

Brainerd again became the center of a new activity last evening when a group of men from Brainerd and surrounding towns, commissioned army officers, assembled for a dinner and executive meeting at the Hotel Ransford and formed the Central Minnesota Reserve Officers Association of the United States.

Colonel B. W. Kelly of Aitkin, whose profession is that of a physician, an officer in the World War, holds the honor of being the first president of the new chapter which was formed for this region of Minnesota. Colonel Kelly is well known in Brainerd and throughout the state for his work in the medicinal field, and his untiring efforts with the state society in its fight against tuberculosis. Colonel Kelly is one of the few war time officers who has seen fit to retain his commission in the army and do the necessary amount of work to keep maintained on the active list.

Other officers elected for the newly formed association were three vice presidents, Captain A. B. Rosenfield of Pequot, Lieutenant John Chesebrough of Brainerd, and Lieutenant J. W. Leighton of Crosby. Lieutenant H. E. Brakke of Brainerd was elected treasurer.

The newly formed chapter represents the third and largest component of the army, the reserve, which composes more than a hundred thousand officers in the United States, controlling their affairs directly from national headquarters at Washington, D. C. The local chapter will not be confined to exact geographical limits as the closest organizations are at Duluth, Fargo and the Twin Cities. Representation in the newly formed chapter already comes from Long Prairie, Pine River, Pequot, Crosby, Aitkin, Cass Lake, as well as Brainerd.

National headquarters authorized the forming of the new chapter when a group of ten officers in this vicinity made request a few weeks ago.

More than two hours were spent by the officers present last evening in outlining the objectives of the organization and other essential business. The delegations which attended the state meeting last Tuesday at the state university of more than three hundred officers representing the regular establishment, the National Guard and the Reserve corps, reported the fine reception accorded them and the interest of General Ellard Welch, Adjutant General Hughes, new commanding officer at Ft. Snelling and Colonel Stone, commander of the Third Infantry in Brainerd because of the close proximity of Camp Ripley.

Briefly, objectives as outlined by the officers for the local organization were those adopted by the parent organization:

Create a clear understanding as to the common interests between the three components of the army.

Promote the citizen military training camps.

Co-operate with other organizations such as patriotic and civic bodies in the promotion of community interests.

Give the public the information they desire about national defense and the manner in which it is worked out.

It was explained by the committee that it was essential to advise the public that the interests of the group was the public interest as the officers' problems as individuals were the same as any other taxpayer and that they were only representing a group who had the nation's welfare as their interest as any other good American citizen.

It was also pointed out that the public should understand that the officers stood for world wide peace and disarmament but not for national disarmament without any regard for what the rest of the world might be doing in the matter.

Invitations have already been extended local officers to attend meetings of groups which are taking up these vital subjects of the day.

These business that transpired at last night's meeting of the new chapter was general information for the membership pertaining to the manner in which to secure two weeks' active duty during the summer and keeping on an active basis by taking the courses of study that are offered throughout the year, either by the correspondence method or by conference.

Members were also advised to stand ready to give information to such individuals that would be eligible for commission in the army as a result of past commission or previous military training. Officers of the chapter stated that it was desirable to get the information to all eligible officers within a reasonable distance of Brainerd who would desire to be members in the chapter.

National guard officers at Crosby and Aitkin will be a part of the organization and an invitation will be extended to those officers on duty at Camp Ripley to participate.

Colonel Kelly explained in some detail the selfish motive which prompted good citizens to accept commission and be ready to defend their country in time of need. He also impressed on the membership that the organization was only formed for the good it might do.

Meetings will be held monthly or bi-monthly as arranged and later on meetings will be held at the different towns. Next meeting will be held in Brainerd about the middle of March, exact date to be announced soon by the president.

Cooking School Note

In the cooking school recently conducted under the auspices of The Dispatch Mrs. Frances Northcross stressed modern methods of cooking. Naturally, then, she uses and recommends CRISCO, the modern shortening that digests easily.

When you pour
Amaizo
GOLDEN SYRUP
on your

—you probably do so because you like the rich, full flavor of this most delicious syrup—and that's a very good reason. But do you know that Amaizo Golden Syrup, in addition to tasting so good, is of a purity and quality so high that it has been approved by both the American Medical Association and Good Housekeeping Institute. Which gives you other good reasons for continuing to use Amaizo.

Amaizo Crystal White Syrup is another Amaizo product, of equal quality and purity, but of a slightly different character; for use in making dainty desserts, cakes, sauces, etc.

At all grocers. Look for the Amaizo name

MRS. HAWKINSON TO ADDRESS LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS MEET

MEN INVITED ALSO TO HEAR TALK ON DISARMAMENT MEETING HERE MONDAY

Both men and women are invited to the League of Women Voters meeting at the cafeteria at the high school Monday evening, Feb. 29. There will be no admission charge.

The speaker will be Mrs. L. F. Hawkins, who is local chairman of international co-operation to prevent war. Her subject is the timely one of disarmament. She has spent much time and thought on this address, which was very well received in Elk River.

Believing that such an address is agitational in character, the board of educational granted free use of the cafeteria for this occasion. The only way to show appreciation of their generosity is to fill the room to capacity.

Celebrates Thirteenth Birthday February 27

A party was given in honor of Miss Eunice Potter Washington's birthday, the occasion being her 13th birthday. Fourteen girl friends were present and enjoyed the afternoon playing games. At 4 o'clock, Mrs. Potter served a dainty luncheon. The guest of honor received many beautiful and useful gifts.

Sons of Norway Postpone Meeting

Sons of Norway Lodge meeting has been postponed to Monday evening, February 29, at 8 p. m. in the Moose hall. Members are urged to be present.

Party Planned by Camp Fire Girls

Cheskmackay Camp Fire group held a meeting in the home of Mrs. Hilding Elvig last night. Plans were made for a party and contest by girls of the Cheskmackay Camp Fire group last night when eleven of the members met with Mrs. Hilding Elvig. Arrangements were not settled at the time. The proceeds will go toward the benefit of the group.

Sutton School P. T. A. Meets

The first regular meeting of the Sutton school P. T. A. in District No. 15 will be held this evening. The P. T. A. was recently organized with the help of members of the Lincoln P. T. A. A program will be presented and lunch served.

TWO BRAINERD LADIES TO RELIVE OLD SPINNING WHEEL DAYS ON SUNDAY HERE

The old time method of carding and spinning yarn on a spinning wheel as employed in Norway many years ago and still the method in several quaint old fashioned places in that country will be revived here Sunday afternoon by two Brainerd ladies dressed in national Norwegian costume.

Mrs. Jacob Thoe, 1023 South Sixth street, and Mrs. Peter H. Olson, 1704 Maple street, have consented to give the exhibition at the museum room of the Crow Wing County Historical Society, basement of the court house, starting at 2 p. m. Sunday. The exhibition will be open to the public through the invitation of the society.

The spinning wheel to be used was brought to the United States from Norway in 1865 by the mother of Rev.

O. L. Bolstad, pastor of the Norwegian Danish Lutheran church here.

Mrs. Thoe came from Norway 32 years ago and has lived in this country 25 years. She will card the wool and get it ready for the spinning wheel with a pair of old cards brought from Norway.

Mrs. Olson who came to this country from Norway 28 years ago will do the spinning.

BRAINERD BUSINESS GIRLS FORM CLASS

Miss Leola Buchite was appointed chairman of a newly organized class of Brainerd business girls when they met in the Y. M. C. A. club rooms last night.

Mrs. Rebecca Nelson of the university staff will instruct and lead the class in discussions of social problems. The course, ten weeks in length, is absolutely free and it is urged that all girls over high school age avail themselves of the opportunity to take it.

Miss Buchite will be assisted by Miss Viola McKay, secretary and Miss Florence Swanson, librarian.

Mrs. Nelson will return to Brainerd two weeks from Thursday and will hold classes twice a month.

EX-COUNTY MAN, WAR VETERAN, DIES

George L. Anderson, son-in-law of A. D. Peterson, Round lake, died at the Veterans' hospital at Fort Snelling, after three months' illness, according to word received here today.

Mr. Anderson lived for four years at Star Lake near Brainerd. He left here about five years ago.

Mr. Anderson saw service in France during the World war. He was in the Argonne battle where he was gassed and brought back from the lines, blinded and unconscious. Pneumonia set in which prolonged his stay in a hospital in France. He was one of the last men to receive his discharge and return home.

Soon after his return from the war Mr. Anderson was married to Miss Essie Marie Peterson of Brainerd.

Burial rites were conducted at Kenyon, Minn.

PROTECT LAKE PROPERTY--

Protection of property, whether your own or your neighbor's, is one of the first laws of mankind. And, it goes without saying that this applies to everyone.

Complaints have been registered in recent weeks that a number of cottages dotting the lakes in the vicinity of Brainerd have been broken into. This practice, if the people of this community let it develop, will do more to discourage visitors having summer cottages in this community from continuing their visits perhaps than anything else. It behooves every resident of this section to take it upon himself to aid in the elimination of this situation.

A $100 reward is a standing offer for the arrest and conviction of parties responsible for raids on summer cottages. But, this point should not alone spur residents for the protection of this property. They should feel duty-bound to do so and thereby eliminate a situation that threatens to harass and injure this community in the eye of the tourist.

HOLMES AND CARDOZO--

A good many years ago Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes delivered an address to Harvard College students, in which he told them: "No man has earned the right to intellectual ambition until he has learned to lay his course by a star which he has never seen—to dig by the divining rod for springs which he may never reach."

That sentence, somehow, takes on a new significance when the recent change in the supreme court of the United States is considered.

Justice Holmes, stepping down, is replaced by Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo, a worthy successor in every way; and the careers of these two men prove conclusively that it is still possible for a man to follow this other-worldly, impractical advice which Justice Holmes gave the college men a generation ago and still win a high place in public life.

Ordinarily we look on public office as something that has to be bought with more or less base metal. The man who would fill it must compromise with expediency, he must give up the privilege of always saying what he thinks, he must occasionally fail to let his right hand know what his left hand is doing. Politics, we are fond of saying, is a dirty game.

Perhaps we are right, in a good many cases. But we aren't always right. These two men, one leaving a high place, the other mounting to it, show us how completely our easy assumption can be wrong.

To lay a course by a star which he has never seen—what does that mean, if not that the leader of men must trust to a nobility and a divinity that are not always evident in the workaday world, must be ready to let his fellows deride him as a visionary, must be unceasingly faithful in sticking to the truth as he has seen it?

A tough job for a man who would rise in public office? Very likely; yet few men ever retired from the supreme court to the acclaim that greeted Justice Holmes' retirement, and few men ever ascended to it as widely endorsed as is Justice Cardozo. And these two, throughout their careers, have lived up to that motto unceasingly.

The nation is always ready to put men of that kind in high places. The only trouble is that it can find so few of them.

A TRIBUTE TO THE JOBLESS--

One of the most striking features of the present depression has been the relative absence of violence on the part of unemployed workmen. Norman Thomas, Socialist leader, touched on the point in a speech at Williamstown, Mass., the other day, and remarked:

"This depression has produced less mass demonstration, I believe, because of the recoil and actual fear of violence among the workers and the fear that such demonstrations would tie them up with the Communist theory of inevitable revolution."

That, apparently, is about the size of it; and there could not be a surer tribute to the solidity and intelligence of the American wage-earner. The American worker has not the slightest desire for a revolution. He simply wants a job, and if he has to wait a long time for it he can wait without breaking things.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS--

When delegations of North Carolina citizens visited Josephus Daniels recently and urged him to become a candidate for governor, he refused, stating that he preferred to continue in his present post as newspaper editor, and adding that he could serve the people of his state more effectively in that capacity than he could in the gubernatorial chair.

The ideal conception of the newspaper editor's function and privilege has seldom been better set forth.

To see to it that one's fellow citizens are given honest, complete and unbiased accounts of the events of the day, to expose hidden wickedness and corruption and to do what one can to uphold the truth—is not that, after all, about as high an ambition as a man can entertain? And if a man is in a job where he can do those things, why should he long for public office?

FEDERAL ECONOMY NEEDED--

The proposed reorganization of federal government departments in the interests of economy and efficiency, now under debate in Congress, is not a new thing. It goes all the way back to the Taft administration, when a commission was set up to survey the field and see just where consolidations could enable Uncle Sam to conduct his business with less lost motion.

Thus the project has been up for consideration for more than 20 years; and by this time it ought to be fairly apparent to the politicians at Washington just what should be done. Some sort of drastic reorganization is greatly needed. Uncle Sam could very easily slash his payroll and get his work done much better than it is being done now. Congress will be doing the country a bad turn if it fails to take some definite action.

The dime-a-dance girl

By JOAN CLAYTON

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a singer in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE. The two girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. STEVEN BARCLAY, 37 and Ellen's employer, lends her an evening dress so she can secure a job. The dance hall she meets fascinating LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist. Later she breaks an engagement with Larry when she learns he is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWEN, a debutante. However, when he comes to Dr. Barclay demanding an explanation she makes another date with him for Sunday.

Her mother and sister favor Barclay's suit. Sunday morning Ellen and her mother quarrel when the girl declines an engagement with Barclay.

Molly bursts into tears and Ellen, repentant, promises she will do her best to fall in love with the older man.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XII

"HOW do you know it's Mr. Barclay?" Myra demanded as Ellen leaped from bed, reached for a flannel dressing gown and belted it over her pajamas.

"He asked yesterday if he might call here some time."

"Did you give him Mrs. Barclay's number?"

"No, but I guess it's on file. He must have looked up my card at the store."

The bedroom door opened and Molly entered. She was visibly excited. Her black, curly hair stood out in little drake-tails. Her blue eyes blazed. For once she had not even taken time to powder her pretty face.

"Hurry, child," she said to Ellen. "You mustn't keep Mr. Barclay waiting. It's bad enough having no phone."

Again Ellen felt a rising irritation. "What makes you so sure it's Mr. Barclay?" she snapped.

"I've got a hunch," Molly admitted, dimpling and smiling mysteriously. "Don't be so slow, honey."

"I can't run through the halls with no stockings on, can I?"

Ellen took a quick brush at her hair, slipped into pumps and ran out of the apartment and down the four flights of stairs. The only telephone in the house was in Mrs. Barclay's apartment on the first floor. The six families who occupied the building were in the generous phrase of Mrs. Barclay, "perfectly welcome to use the phone so long as they pay for outgoing calls."

And so long as they let Mrs. Barclay listen in on their business Ellen had thought privately.

Sure enough, the fat, good-natured Irish woman was waiting in the hall at the foot of the stairs. For all the world like a master of ceremonies, she said, "Right this way." Then after she had shown Ellen where the telephone was (as if Ellen had not known before) she placidly settled herself in the vicinity of the conversation. Unfortunately for the listener the conversation was extremely short. Ellen replaced the receiver, presented her thanks and prepared to leave. Mrs. Barclay saw a golden opportunity fading.

She said quickly and ingratiatingly, "Was that the rich fellow you was telling me all about?"

"I don't know who you mean," Ellen replied coldly.

"Sure you do," said Mrs. Barclay, chuckling. "I mean Mr. Steven Barclay, your boss. Your maw said he was fairly daff over you."

Ellen had to smile.

"Yes, it was Mr. Barclay," she admitted to the other's evident pleasure. She even added, "Mr. Barclay wanted me to go driving with him this afternoon."

"I heard you saying that you couldn't go," Mrs. Barclay confessed. "That's too bad. It's such a nice day for an automobile ride."

Ellen returned to the bedroom.

Myra was dressing but Molly had collapsed on the bed and was nibbling at a bit of toast. Both fell abruptly silent at Ellen's entrance and she realized that they had been discussing her. Let them, thought Ellen grimly.

"Won't you tell us about your call?" asked Molly, after a delicate interval of silence. "Or is it a secret?"

"There's nothing much to tell," said Ellen airily. "It was Steven Barclay. He wanted me for a drive this afternoon."

"Ah!" said Molly. There was another interval of silence. Myra looked sharply at her sister but Ellen's gaze was bland and innocent. Presently she said to her mother, "I'd like to invite a friend to supper."

"Who is it?" asked Molly. She thought she knew the answer. A look of complete astonishment crossed her face when Ellen corrected the impression.

"But Ellen!" she cried in dismay. "What about Mr. Barclay?"

"What about him?" repeated Ellen.

"You said he'd asked you for a drive."

"So he did. I told him I couldn't go. I can't either. I have a date this afternoon with Larry."

I thought it would be nice to bring him here afterwards for supper."

Molly shifted tactics. "I would like to have your friend for supper," she said, her eyes clear and limpid, "but it's out of the question, honey. There's not a clean tablecloth in the house for one thing; they're all at the laundry."

Besides Mrs. Barclay is coming up. I've already asked her."

Ellen suspected that her mother was being perverse. She was sure of it when Molly with an aggrieved air remarked that she supposed a daughter of hers would have too much pride to want to see a man already engaged to another woman. She struck home there. But she was not content to let the matter rest.

"Personally I think it rather odd of the Harrowgate boy to ask you for an engagement under the circumstances," said Molly. "In my day it would have been considered dishonorable."

"You don't know whether it's dishonorable or not," Ellen said angrily, ignoring her own secret doubts. "Larry has no way of knowing that I might consider the fact that he is engaged important. I don't consider it important. I like him—that's enough! This isn't the Victorian age after all."

"There's no use discussing it," observed Molly lightly. "We wouldn't agree, I'm sure."

MOLLY ROSSITER could, when she chose, adopt the most exasperating mood in the world. She chose just then to adopt that mood.

When Ellen asked her to meet Larry, Molly remembered a previous engagement to go walking with Mrs. Barclay. Mrs. Barclay was a great aid to Molly in managing her daughters. Whenever they made a request she did not wish to grant Mrs. Barclay, in one way or another, became a ward in her charge. Ellen understood that as did Myra. But the family rules forbade any mention of the fiction.

"I'm sorry you can't meet him," Ellen said at last with cold finality.

"I'm sorry, too," conceded Molly. Turning to Myra she said plaintively, "Would you mind, honey, getting me some coffee? Lots of cream and I like it weak. Would you be a lamb and make a fresh pot?"

Of course Myra would. But as she walked to the kitchen she was hoping Molly would be cautious. Never in her life had Molly been cautious.

"Did Mr. Barclay say anything special over the phone?" she demanded the instant the door had closed behind Myra. "Anything that you might not want anybody except me to know?"

"No," replied Ellen, half smiling, half sighing at Molly's terrible persistence. "He didn't say anything more than I've told you."

"Was he surprised yesterday when you returned the dress?"

"I don't think so."

Molly clasped her hands about her knees and stared dreamily out into the hot afternoon. A little smile flickered across her lips.

"I've been thinking," she remarked meditatively, "and I believe you were right in declining his invitation this afternoon. He will appreciate you all the more for checking him at first. Men are like that."

"I didn't refuse for that reason and I'm sure you know I didn't," said Ellen in intense exasperation. "We've gone over and over this and you know exactly how I feel. I can't think of anything so dishonest as encouraging a man I don't love."

ness, there will be no bootleggers, they have another thing coming.

Yes, it does cost a pretty penny to enforce the law, but even five hundred millions a year, keeps quite an army employed in a legitimate business, but note this, that the one billion of Bishop Ireland's time had grown to nearly two billions, passing over as soon as bars when the 18th Amendment was enacted, and that largely from wage earners, too.

The liquor business was growing by leaps and bounds in spite of all attempts to control and regulate it, and let it be remembered, that that business symbolized by the serpent, has drawn its slimy length along down all the ages of the race, while we have had but 14 years since cutting off its legal head, the like the viper it is, its body squirms and twists, and may for some time. The snake wouldn't be a perfect symbol of it, if it didn't.

The wets have never given us any plan so far, to control this slippery monster, that has not been tried sometime, somewhere and failed. Several nations, including Canada, have tried governmental handling and control, but "every intelligent citizen" (quoting Mr. Sundquist) knows it is a farce.

State control—Al Smith's hobby—was tried in South Carolina, and the state became so corrupt and debauched, even the sponsors of the bill repudiated it.

It's a horrible business from beginning to end. It degrades and degenerates any who drink it, buys it, or sells it, or makes it, or handles it, and Uncle Sam is no exception to the rule. I believe if some of the treacherous, treasonable, traitors, bootleggers in the enforcement service were hung as they deserve to be, there would be a different story to tell, and if Mr. Sundquist, and the "good citizens" he exhorts, would face about, and instead of giving encouragement to the enemy, encourage and help Uncle Sam enforce the law, we would soon have "a government of the people, by the people, for the people that will not perish from the earth," but grow better and better as the years go by, and become in this matter, as it has in others, a beacon for the nations of the earth to enact and enforce the most beneficial and economic legislation they have ever had.

THE OPEN FORUM

To the Editor of the Daily Dispatch:

Dear Sir:

There seems to be so much wet propaganda going the rounds I am surprised and not a little disappointed that some one more capable had not taken the splendid opportunity your Open Forum offers, to make reply, and a vigorous protest to some of the false statements and misrepresentations.

We should be reminded that quite a contingent of young people have grown into man and womanhood since the enactment of the 18th Amendment and as prohibition activities practically ceased then, the younger generation is not familiar with the logic that brought it about.

If these young people hear and see only one side, they will naturally believe its statements, regardless of how misleading they may be, for it takes truth a long time to catch up with falsehood, once the latter has gotten a start.

The 18th Amendment was passed in war time, as a war measure to help the economic situation. Few there were who denied its benefits then, and our friends now do not seem to understand that an economic measure of that nature, good in war time is and should be also good in peace times.

That it is, we have only to note, that in our own state of 89 counties only 3 had inmates at their poor farm after three years of prohibition, and the further fact that hundreds of counties all over these United States either sold their poor farms or had no inmates—Mr. Sundquist, to the contrary, notwithstanding.

The writer may be one of the unenlightened dumb ones he has in mind for I do believe that the 18th Amendment can and will be enforced, and when the wets say it never can be, they should remember that's a long time.

Let us not forget we are living under the glorious flag that has never known defeat, and I do not believe Uncle Sam (the American people) is ready to surrender, now, to a most vicious element of society—the brothel, bootlegger, cheap politician and nullifier.

Some of the things the wets claim are that more liquor is drunk now than ever, that it is costing the government too much to enforce the law, that it would bring better times if legalized, thus starting breweries, distilleries, etc., and thus help unemployment.

I believe as Senator Sheppard says, "that Uncle Sam can neither drink himself prosperous or sober" and I do not believe any other nation on earth can, either.

If, as claimed, more liquor is drunk now than ever, how can our wet friends claim more employment if less liquor is made through the government, for even bootleg liquor don't make itself. Someone must be thus employed.

On the other hand should the government allow more liquor to be made and used, can anyone truly imagine what our streets, and highways, and byways would be like, with more liquor turned loose with our changed, and modern mode of travel, and transportation.

As bad as the depression is here, let Mr. Sundquist or any wet point to any wet nation that is more prosperous than the U. S. Even Canada, with all her liquor, and the help some of our bootleggers give her isn't "so hot" after all.

The wets would have us think that the bootlegger is a product of prohibition. A peace officer in a town in pre-prohibition days told me recently, they had more trouble then with bootleggers than with the saloon keepers.

The writer was in business in a town of some 4000 people. This business took him to all the saloons nearly every week day. Knowing that I was a dry, I frequently had discussions over the question. I told them that unless they got together, and carried on the business according to ordinance and law they would lose it. Their reply was, it could not be done, that they had to pay their license, and keep up their saloons, while the bootlegger sold to whoever would buy and no license or other expenses to meet.

Back in 1881, Bishop John Ireland gave an address at Buffalo, N. Y., before an association to advance sobriety. He said that "one billion dollars yearly passed over saloon bars, mostly from wage earners, and that that figure did not include the vast amount of illicit (bootleg) liquor drunk."

So that those who think, if or when, Uncle Sam goes into the booze busi-

Thoughts for Lent

"If Any Man Eat of This Bread" (Read John 6:48-59.)

If we have receptive hearts, we shall feel in need not only of Light but also of Food for our spiritual sustenance. Our souls like our bodies grow hungry. Christ serves those who love Him and believe in Him, as a wholly satisfying nourishment. He is "the living bread which came down from Heaven." When He first declared this great truth, there were many who were offended by His claim and complained that "This is a hard saying." It is indeed a "hard saying," to those whose hearts can not receive it. It becomes, however, a very beautiful saying when we have found that God comes in Christ with a promise of complete satisfaction for every possible or conceivable want. Since God is the fundamental necessity of our souls, and Christ is the manifestation to us of God, it is profoundly true that if we partake of this Bread which is Christ, we will live forever.

Prayer: We thank Thee, O Heavenly Father, that Thou hast given Thyself to us through Jesus Christ. We bless Thee for the Light that shineth upon us, and for the spiritual Bread with which our souls are nourished. May we partake of it, may we do so with thanksgiving, in fellowship with all our brothers, Thy children, who share in Thy love and in Thy plentiful grace. Amen.

CRISLER ACCEPTS PRINCETON CONTRACT

Grove Asks Golf Duel With Mack Settle Wage Row

SALARY REPORTED NOT OVER $10,000; ASSUMES GRID POST

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Herbert O. "Fritz" Crisler, director of athletics at the University of Minnesota, has become head football coach for Princeton university.

Crisler, now in Minneapolis, has signed a three-year contract for the position at an annual salary of not more than $10,000. He will begin active work at Princeton with coaching of the 1932 football team.

Davies revealed names of the committee members which selected Crisler. They included Dr. John Finney, '84, Baltimore; Donald B. Lourie, '22, Chicago; and F. Tremaine Billings, '33, Pittsburgh. Billings is captain of this year's team.

He explained that personnel of the 1932 coaching body would not be settled until Crisler arrived from the west.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Herbert O. "Fritz" Crisler, director of athletics at the University of Minnesota, today confirmed an announcement from Princeton that he would become head football coach there.

Confers With Regents
"I let them know last night," Crisler said when informed of the report that he had signed a three-year contract to go to Princeton.

Crisler conferred with members of the board of regents late yesterday to discuss his leaving the university. Previously student leaders, including football men and other athletes, appealed to the director to remain at Minnesota.

Bernie Bierman, former football coach at Tulane, was engaged to become football coach here for next season so that Crisler could devote his full time to being athletic director.

Announcement of Crisler's signing was released here early this morning by a telephone call from Thurston J. Davies, supervisor of sports, who is in New York because of his wife's illness.

Davies' brief statement said merely that he had been notified Crisler had signed for three years at a salary "not in excess of the faculty scale" and would begin work with this year's team. Nothing was mentioned about the possibility of the former Chicago grid star becoming director of athletics at Princeton. Maximum salary under the faculty scale would be $10,000.

Crisler at U. Two Years
Crisler succeeds Al Wittmer as head coach of the Tiger team, and has the singular honor of being the first Princeton coach not an alumnus. His signing was not a surprise, because "Fritz" had announced last Monday in Minneapolis that he had been offered the position.

Crisler went to the University of Minnesota two years ago from the University of Chicago, where he starred as a player under the famous Alonzo Stagg, and later became Stagg's assistant. His first contact with Princeton came in 1921 when he played on the Chicago varsity which defeated Princeton 9 to 0.

Strangler Lewis Held Under Bond After Match

Pittsburgh, Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—John Maxos, St. Louis wrestler, was in West Penn hospital and Edward (Strangler) Lewis, 40, Glendale, Calif., former heavyweight champion, was held under $500 bond as result of their wrestling match here last night. Physicians fear Maxos' neck may be broken.

Maxos recovered consciousness today. Lewis weighed 231 pounds, Maxos 205.

In the semi-final match Frank Spear, 236, former Georgia Tech football player, defeated Roy Steele, 216, in 30 minutes.

Earl McCready, 240, Canada, threw Nino Dinaldo, 204, Italy, with a body-scissors, after 10 minutes, 22 seconds; Kola Kwarini, 201½, Russia, defeated George Kotsopoulos, 188½, St. Louis, 30 minutes.

BRAINERD TO FACE DIFFICULT TEST IN C-I. GAME TONIGHT

The Brainerd Warriors face a difficult cage test tonight, one that will decide their chances of another district tournament championship.

In playing the Rangers on the Crosby-Ironton high school floor, the Warriors will have an opportunity to gauge its chances in the tournament should the two teams meet again this year.

The test will come less than a week before the opening of the tournament.

Brainerd's tournament hopes will get a chance to display their qualifications under fire tonight. The manner in which the boys play tonight will have a large bearing on the selection of the tournament squad.

Past performances indicate that the players now holding an edge for selection, barring injuries and sickness are: Foster, Swanson, Gerry, Wygle, Bob Wygle, Larson, Smith, Templeton and Heikkinen.

Scores of fans left for the game hours in advance to secure good seats. They will be augmented by many more early this evening leaving by chartered bus and by cars. The main game will start at 8 p. m.

Marquette Negro Wins Day's Events of Meet

Chicago, Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Springing to victory in 40, 50 and 60-yard dashes, Ralph Metcalf, Marquette University negro, won first in the featured medley event of the second annual Illinois National Guard-Naval Reserve indoor track and field meet last night.

He scored a perfect total, 15 points, in the medley to defeat George Simpson, former Ohio State sprinter now of the Los Angeles A. C., who made seven points. James Owen, St. Louis high school boy, was third with six.

No records were broken and no championships were to be decided on the 124th Field Artillery Armory's tank floor, where a crowd of only 1500 watched the events.

Jess Willard, Ex-Champ, Says He is "Flat Broke"

Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion boxer, is "broke," his testimony on record in municipal court today indicated.

The former champion said he has no property, and operates a market which was transferred to his sister-in-law in consideration of a loan, with his household expenses his only remuneration.

He was questioned in court regarding his asserted failure to pay a $130 judgment on a check signed by him, for which it was said there were insufficient funds.

BOWLING RESULTS AT VAN'S ALLEYS

The Brainerd Laundry took three games from the Bell Telephone while the Russell Creamery won two from the Northern States Power in ladies' league bowling at Van's alleys last night.

RETZLAFF FAVORED TO TRIM DANIELS

St. Paul, Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—With the close of heavy training today, sports followers installed Charles Retzlaff of Duluth as a favorite to defeat Dick Daniels of Minneapolis in a 10 round fight next Tuesday night for the heavyweight championship of Minnesota.

The championship belt with its three gold buckles, donated by Promoter Johnny Salvator, will be but a minor consideration, however, for another defeat for either fighter will relegate him to the ranks of the "has-beens."

Although decisions are not given at prize fights in Minnesota, in case both fighters are on their feet at the end of the 10th round, newspapermen at the ringside will be balloted for the awarding of the belt, Salvator has announced.

Sports followers have picked Retzlaff to win because of his harder hitting. They reason that Daniels can be hit. Daniels has been on the floor in Minneapolis rings before half a dozen fighters. Likewise it is felt that whatever advantage Daniels may have in speed or boxing ability will be nullified by the power of Retzlaff's blows.

Carleton May Lose Star Basketball Guard

Northfield, Minn., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Matt Thoeny, star guard of the Carleton college basketball team, may be lost to the team for the rest of the season, by the death of his brother at Glencoe. Thoeny was called home yesterday when his brother's condition became worse, just before his death of spinal meningitis.

Warm wine is served free to Paris police at their station when there is a spell of cold weather.

LEAN LEADER OF ATHLETICS SAYS "NO COMPROMISE"

Fort Myers, Fla., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Lefty Grove, Philadelphia Athletics' humorous holdout, desires to settle his salary dispute in a golfing duel with Manager Connie Mack.

"If I won," Lefty explained yesterday, "then I get the $35,000 contract. If I lose, I sign for what the club offers."

Mack said: "There will be no compromise." Rube Walberg, southpaw ace, also is a holdout.

Los Angeles, Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Catcher Frank Hogan of the New York Giants is laid up today with a badly bruised knee, injured when he ran into a concrete grandstand chasing a foul.

Clearwater, Fla., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Cy Moore, righthanded pitcher, has entered the Dodgers fold and started training.

Chico, Calif., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—The Detroit Tigers pitching brigade headed by George Uhle, Tommy Bridges, Earl Whitehill and John Wyatt, began practice in earnest today after a week's preliminary training at Richardson's Springs. Bridges showed fine form when he tossed a few to Ray Hayworth, catcher.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Babe Ruth remains a spectator while the New York Yankees go through their workouts. His former holdout companion, Shortstop Lyn Lary, reported at camp yesterday. Henry Johnson, pitcher, is convalescing rapidly from an appendicitis operation.

Mineral Wells, Tex., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—Lew Fonseca, new manager of the Chicago White Sox, has arrived with half of his squad. The six will have a week of baths and hiking before starting actual training at San Antonio, March 3.

Biloxi, Miss., Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—President Clarke-Griffith of the Washington Senators has made his final offer to Bobby Burke, southpaw holdout. Although no figures were revealed, it is understood the offer is a compromise.

Avalon, Catalina Island, Feb. 26.—(U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs have started practice games. In a nine-inning game yesterday, a team captained by Charley Root defeated that of Pat Malone, 12 to 6. Tinning and Miller, rookies, pitched for the Cubs, while Welch and Herrmann hurled for Malone's nine. The Root sluggers reached Welch for six runs in the first inning.
